

We have learned today that the Temple Department owns the rights and access to what is recorded on the temple grounds during groundbreaking, open house, and dedication. In full support of their request we have removed these two posts and associated videos from our Website.